^①What happens when a dog sees a mirror? ^②Woof! Woof! ^③The dog barks because it thinks there's another dog in the mirror. ^④Dogs don't understand that they are looking at themselves. ^⑤Fish act in a similar way. ^⑥When they see a mirror, the fish think, "Who is that?" and try to attack it.

^⑦But some animals are different. ^⑧Scientists tested this with an elephant. ^⑨They painted a spot on its face and showed it a mirror. ^⑩The elephant looked in the mirror, saw the spot, and touched the painted spot on its own face with its trunk.

^⑪Chimps and dolphins can do this too. ^⑫They know the mirror shows themselves. ^⑬Not

many animals can recognize themselves in a mirror. ^⑭That's why it's so interesting.
