^①Paris had a big problem. ^②Many people crossed the street when the light was red.

^③This caused many accidents. ^④To solve the problem, the Paris Road Safety team tried something new called “The Virtual Crash Billboard.”

^⑤These billboards are on busy streets. ^⑥They have cameras and speakers. ^⑦If someone crosses at a red light, a loud sound plays—Screech! ^⑧It sounds like a car stopping fast, which surprises people. ^⑨Many of them stop right away. ^⑩At that moment, a camera takes

your life. Wait for the green light and cross safely.”

^⑬People can also scan a code to see crash stories. ^⑭It helps them learn to cross the street more safely. ^⑮Now, Paris streets are safer because of the billboard idea.
