^①Have you ever loved someone who didn't love you back? ^②Greek mythology has an interesting story about why this might happen.

^③Eros, the playful god of love, had two magical arrows. ^④One arrow was gold and made people fall in love, while the other was made of lead and made people run away. ^⑤One day, Eros wanted to play a trick on the god Apollo. ^⑥He shot Apollo with the gold arrow. ^⑦Right away, Apollo fell in love with a beautiful girl named Daphne. ^⑧But Eros shot Daphne with the lead arrow, which made her dislike Apollo. ^⑨Apollo chased Daphne through the forest, but every time he got close, she ran away. ^⑩In the end, Daphne turned into a laurel tree to get away from him. ^⑪Apollo was very sad, but he still loved the tree.

^⑫So, if someone doesn't like you back, maybe it's not your fault. ^⑬It could just be a trick of Eros's arrows!
