^①Dubai is a desert city. ^②It doesn't rain much—less than 4 inches a year. ^③Water is very important there. ^④But global warming is making the water problem worse. ^⑤To solve this problem, Dubai is using drones to make rain. ^⑥The idea of artificial rain isn't new, but Dubai is the first to use drones to create it.

^⑦The drones fly into the sky to find clouds. ^⑧When they find clouds, they send small electric shocks, like fake lightning. ^⑨This makes tiny drops of water stick together and become bigger drops. ^⑩When the drops become heavy enough, they fall as rain. ^⑪The size of the drops is very important. ^⑫If the drops are too small, they dry up before they hit the ground because the air is hot and dry. ^⑬In the past, people used chemicals to make rain, but this hurt nature. ^⑭Using drones is safer for the environment.

^⑮Now, other countries want to use drones to make rain too. ^⑯Soon, drones might help us make rain whenever we need it!
