^①People are different, and we can put them into three groups: givers, takers, and matchers. ^②Givers are people who like to help others first. ^③Takers think mostly about themselves, and matchers try to be fair to everyone.

^④Givers are often the best workers. ^⑤They are nice and helpful, so they make good friends at work. ^⑥People whose lives were made better by givers cannot help feeling thankful and want to return the favor. ^⑦Givers also learn a lot because they work with many different people. ^⑧This helps them get better at their jobs. ^⑨Because they are kind, people like them and want to work with them. ^⑩This can give them new chances and help them work well in a team.

^⑪But givers need to remember to take care of themselves, too. ^⑫If they always help others first, they might get exhausted. ^⑬It's important for givers to be kind not only to others but also to themselves. ^⑭This will help them be happy and do well at work and in life.
