¹Some inventions are used for different things than what people first intended. ²One example is Willis Carrier's invention. ³Willis Carrier was born in 1876 in New York. ⁴He went to Cornell University to learn about electricity. ⁵After school, he worked at a place that made heaters and dryers.

⁶One day, a printing company had a problem. ⁷The air was too wet, so the paper changed size, which made the pictures look strange. ⁸Willis had a good idea. ⁹He made a machine that blew air through a cold filter. ¹⁰The air became cooler and drier. ¹¹It worked!

¹²The printing was clear again.

¹³But this was just the start of his invention's journey. ¹⁴Later, stores and movie theaters started using his machine to keep people cool. ¹⁵Everyone liked it. ¹⁶That was the beginning of the air conditioner! ¹⁷Today, thanks to Willis Carrier, we can live in very hot places, like deserts or tropical areas. ¹⁸Air conditioning helps many people live and work all around the world. ¹⁹Some people even say, "If the air conditioner stops, modern life stops."
