¹When you type on a keyboard, the first step is to place your right index finger on the J

key. ²After that, your other fingers will rest on the correct keys. ³Once your fingers are in the right position, you can type without looking at the keyboard.

⁴But if you start on the wrong key, all of your other fingers are out of position, and nothing you type will make sense. ⁵For example, if you try to type “hello,” it might come out as “jr;;p.” ⁶If you type “love,” it might look like “;pbr.” ⁷It is starting in the right place that makes all the difference—not just in typing, but in life.

⁸Now, think about your years ahead. ⁹What goals do you want to reach? ¹⁰How do you want to feel inside? ¹¹Once you know what you want, say it or write it down. ¹²If your words feel right in your heart, it means you’ve put your finger on the J.
